Home Comfort Ranges!

The present century is pre-eminently one of practical progress and improvement, yet in no branch of industry have greater gains been made than in that which aids in loading the table with food perfectly prepared, one of the first and most necessary steps toward health, that boon priceless alike to prince or poor man. The brush heap probably cooked the first food, and the huge fireplace, garnished with hooks, cranes and ovens, was a giant stride in progress. It took years of patient toil to bring up to its present grade of utility the cast iron cook stove. It is now conceded by most thoughtful people to have had its day of usefulness, and in every point of superiority wrought-iron ranges are superceding them. Investigation, experience and practical tests have demonstrated these to be incontrovertible facts. Practical experience is potent and absolute, and by that severe test we have carefully tried every progressive step and change in the construction of our Ranges. We absolutely guarantee them to work to perfection, and they make friends everywhere. They are marvels of usefulness, and economic no less than sanitary reasons urge that they be used in every family. Wealth without health is adorned poverty, and poverty without health is misery. Good food, properly cooked, is a great factor in health, hence the necessity that all should have one of our matchless "Home Comfort" Ranges, bringing health and comfort; so that "good digestion waits on appetite, and health on both."

McNichols' Great Fall Pot Pie!

An upper crust of velvet fluff,
His parlor suits with purple of satin,
In green and gold and red velvet wine.
All fit for gods who talk in Latin,
Oak, ash and holly bed-room sets,
Mahogany and walnut added,
A folding bed all perfect sets,
With mattresses of curly hair padded.
A bottom crust of caprice rare,
Not cheap and gaudy, easy faded,
With pictures up his winding stair,
Where windows are with lace shaded,
Mac knows just how to catch the eye,
He's got the goods if you're the pocket.
Just get your house and let him try,
With his new furniture to stock it.

The Feast of the Season!

No garden full of busy bees
Shows greater thrift than Mac's four stories.
Amazed, the stranger stops and sees
His clerk, who dines like moving stories
From bottom floor to topmost nook,
To fill out all the corner coming.
While Mac stands gazing on his book
And finds his business needs no drumming.
No, sir! This people tells its tale,
The man who takes a bite will eat it;
This bounteous feast cannot grow stale,
Mac challenges the world to beat it.
He knows the quality and kind,
The price "catch on," never doubt it.
If furniture you wish to find,
The best on earth, see Mac about it.

ST. LOUIS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

LOGAN D. DAMERON, D. R. McANALLY, Editors. Published for the M.E. Church South. Terms: ($2.50 Per Annum. 1.00 to Ministers.)
VOL. XXX. ST. LOUIS, SEPT. 24, 1884. NO. 45.

This issue of the Advocate contains a summary of the week's news and other interesting items under the heads of Doctrinal Points, The Demagogue, A Revival of Reading, Conference Notes, Sunday-School, Our Family, Literary News, etc., etc.
In addition to the able editorials, there appears, this week, the full text of the sermon preached at the funeral of the late Bishop Pierce, by Rev. A. G. Haygood of Georgia, and correspondence on various subjects by the ablest writers in the church connection. Also the following report, which will prove of interest to friend. of this paper, and which has been heartily approved by the recent Conference at Shelby, Mo.:

Report of the Committee of Editorial Management of the St. Louis Christian Advocate.

To the Bishop, and Members of the Missouri Annual Conference of the M. E. Church, South:

DEAR FATHERS AND BRETHREN—The undersigned members of the Editorial Committee of the ST. LOUIS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE beg leave most respectfully to submit for your consideration the following report on the condition, management and future prospects of the paper:

The ST. LOUIS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE was originally authorized by the General Conference of 1850; and it has been duly recognized and its editor elected by every General Conference since.

The General Conference of 1883 having authorized the delegates of the patronizing Conferences to select an editor for this ADVOCATE; and, having by Conference action approved of the selection of Rev. D. R. McAnally, D. D., the patronizing Conferences have indorsed the ADVOCATE at every annual session during these years. Hence it is the child of the church in every sense. It is not only, therefore, entitled to the support and patronage of the Conferences, but its very existence is derived from them.

At the session of the Southwest Missouri Conference, in 1881, Mr. Logan D. Dameron, the business manager, proposed to surrender the entire ADVOCATE property, with both the financial and editorial control, to the patronizing Conferences. The joint committee appointed by Bishop Pierce to consider the proposition, accepted only that part of it tendering the editorial management to the Conferences; and, on the 14th of December, 1881, the surrender was made under the proposition "based upon the distinct and explicit covenant, that the committee will, by all means in their power, conserve and defend the interests of the business management of the ADVOCATE, and diligently labor to keep it the sole and efficient organ of the M. E. Church, South; in the bounds of the patronizing Conferences." Since that time the entire editorial management has been under the direct supervision and absolute control of this committee.

The Committee has elected the editors, subject to the appointment of the Bishops; has suggested changes in the conduct of the paper which in every case have been made; has found the business manager always ready to adopt their plans and to provide such correspondence as it has suggested. The committee wishes to emphasize this point and to have the Conference bear in mind that the ADVOCATE is their paper; that through their representatives in this committee they have absolute control over its columns as any business man has over his private enterprises. The ADVOCATE is not a private enterprise, projected either for honor or profit, but is the organ of the Conferences, and as such is entitled to your hearty support and co-operation.

The committee congratulates the church on the success which the ADVOCATE has achieved during the past year. Its editorial and business management has been in the highest degree satisfactory; and the favor which the paper enjoys among our people is sufficiently indicated by its large circulation of 18,000 copies. The weekly issues of the ADVOCATE now go to four thousand four hundred (4,400) Post Offices in the United States and foreign countries, ranging from one to hundreds of copies to each office. The circulation of the paper is throughout forty-six States and Territories of the Union, including the District of Columbia and Indian Territory. The veteran editor in chief, the Rev. D. R. McAnally, whose name is a household word among Missouri Methodists, has wielded his pen during the year with undiminished vigor, and we trust his valuable life may be spared for many more years. The Rev. E. M. Bounds, his associate, has rendered valuable and timely services, and the Committee tender him its sincere thanks.

We also return our cordial thanks to the efficient and faithful business manager, Logan D. Dameron, whose labors have contributed so largely to the success of the paper. While Mr. Dameron has always cheerfully carried out any suggestion made by the committee, he has never in any way interfered with the editorial management; and has not only in name but in fact turned over such management and control entirely to the Committee.

We commend to the Conferences the continued indorsement and hearty support of the ADVOCATE. The Methodist Church, South, in the entire West, would lose one of its chief elements of power should any disaster overtake the ST. LOUIS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE; and now, more than ever, is the paper entitled to the support and confidence of our people; it is the indispensable ally of the pastor in all church work; it is a means of inspiration to every Christian, and is a most valuable educator for the masses of the people.

We trust therefore that by the efforts of the Methodists of Missouri, Kansas and Illinois, as well as by the support of many thousands scattered throughout our entire connection, the ADVOCATE may enter upon a career of increased prosperity and continue for many coming generations to bless the sons and daughters of our beloved Zion.
